

Aluminum Alloy Pressure Cooker

This pressure cooker is made with a durable A3003 aluminum alloy cover and pot, featuring a mirror-polished exterior and a matte-polished interior. It is compatible with gas, electric, ceramic, halogen, and induction cooktops.

ADDITIONAL IMAGES

Product Overview

Professional Aluminum Pressure Cooker

This high-performance pressure cooker is engineered from premium A3003 aluminum alloy for optimal heat distribution and durability. Designed to accelerate cooking times while effectively preserving nutrients, it is an essential tool for high-efficiency commercial or home kitchens. With its refined dual-finish exterior and robust safety features, it combines professional utility with long-lasting reliability.

Design and Materials

Material	Aluminum Alloy A3003
Exterior Finish	Mirror polished
Interior Finish	Matt polish

Safety and Ergonomics

Handle Material	Anti-temperature Bakelite
Safety Safeguards	Multiple safety valves, Secure locking mechanism, Stable lid design

Compatibility

Compatible Heat Sources

- Gas
- Electric
- Ceramic
- Halogen
- Induction