

Australian Standard Extension Cord

This Australian standard extension cord is designed to extend the reach of electrical devices. It features a three-prong plug on one end and a corresponding socket on the other.

Product Overview

Australian Standard Extension Cord

This Australian standard extension cord is designed for reliable power delivery in residential and office environments. Featuring a standard three-prong configuration, it is built to extend the reach of your electrical devices safely and efficiently. The product offers versatile customization options, including tailored cable colors, specific sizing requirements, and bespoke outer packaging solutions to meet your branding or operational needs.

Technical Specifications

Model Number	LS-UX1001
Standard Cable Color	White

Customization Options

Customization Available	Custom Color, Custom Size, Custom Outer Packaging
-------------------------	---