

Automated Production Line

This automated system is designed for efficient product assembly. It incorporates a network of conveyors, machinery, and control panels within a multi-tiered steel structure.

