

Beijing Subway Olympic Extension Train

The Beijing Subway Olympic Extension Train provides efficient and reliable transportation. Designed for urban mass transit, it ensures a smooth ride for passengers in the Beijing metropolitan area.

Overview

Beijing Subway Olympic Extension Train

The Beijing Subway Olympic Extension train is a specialized rail vehicle designed for high-capacity urban mass transit. Engineered for efficiency and reliability, this model features a streamlined design optimized for the demanding environments of metropolitan subway systems. The interconnected car configuration ensures a continuous passenger space, facilitating smooth movement and improved transit flow during peak hours.

Design and Exterior

Exterior Features	Streamlined Design, Interconnected Cars, Urban Mass Transit
Color Scheme	White and grey exterior with purple accent stripe

Technical Specifications

Train Identifier	TP401
Primary Application	Urban Mass Transit