

Benchtop Drill Press

This drill press is designed for precision drilling in various materials. It features a sturdy construction, ensuring stability and accuracy during operation.

Overview

Professional Benchtop Drill Press

The ZJ4113 is a robust benchtop drill press engineered for precision drilling across a wide variety of materials. Featuring a powerful motor and variable speed control, it provides the versatility needed for both professional workshops and demanding DIY projects. Its sturdy construction ensures maximum stability and accuracy during high-intensity operations.

Performance

Performance Highlights

4113

Model Series

Speed Control

Variable speed control for different material requirements

Construction & Design

Build Quality

- Sturdy construction for enhanced stability
- Adjustable worktable for versatile positioning
- Integrated depth stop for consistent results

Safety & Compliance

Safety Systems

- Chuck guard protection
- Emergency stop switch

Certifications

CE • FC

Application

Ideal Applications

Professional Workshop, Precision Drilling, DIY Projects, Metalworking, Woodworking