

Butt Hinge

A butt hinge attaches doors to door frames, allowing them to swing open and closed. It features two rectangular metal leaves connected by a central pin.

Product Overview

Professional Grade Butt Hinge

The butt hinge is an essential hardware component designed for securely attaching doors to frames. Featuring two rectangular leaves joined by a central pin or knuckle, this mechanism allows for smooth, reliable door operation. Engineered for a flush, secure fit, these hinges are typically mortised into the edge of the door and frame, ensuring long-term durability and stability.

Technical Details

Construction

- Two rectangular metal leaves
- Central pin/knuckle mechanism

| | |
|-----------------|---|
| Design Type | Butt Hinge |
| Mounting Method | Mortised |
| Key Features | Flush Fit, Durable, Smooth Operation, Easy Installation |