

Coiled Data Transfer Cable

This is a coiled cable used for transferring data. It features metal connectors on both ends for secure attachment to computer components or peripherals.

