

Commercial Food Processing Machine

This commercial food processing machine is designed for slicing and dicing fruits and vegetables in large quantities. It features a stainless steel construction, a lever-operated mechanism, and a safety guard, including a red emergency stop button.

