

Compact Personal Space Heater

This compact heater is designed for personal space heating. It features a durable metal construction with a perforated enclosure, adjustable heat settings, and overheat protection for safe operation.

Overview

Compact Personal Heating Solution

The RH02 is a compact and portable miniature heater engineered specifically for personal space warming. Its robust metal construction and perforated enclosure ensure efficient heat dissipation while maintaining high safety standards. Designed for versatility, this unit features a stable base suitable for both desktop and floor placement, making it an ideal choice for home or office environments.

Technical Specifications

Model Number	RH02
Construction Material	Metal

Features & Safety

Control Interface

- Rotary control knob
- Operational status indicator light

Safety Features	Overheat Protection, Perforated Enclosure
-----------------	---

Usage

Recommended Placement

Desktop • Floor