

Copper Busbar with Integrated Shunt

This copper busbar is designed for electrical connections and features a shunt for current measurement. It is made from high-conductivity copper to ensure minimal resistance and efficient current flow.

