

Cordless Phone with Base Station

This cordless phone includes a base station with a digital display and a handset with an antenna. It is designed for home or office use, providing both corded and cordless communication options.

Product Overview

Versatile Communication System

This cordless phone system is designed for both home and office environments, offering a hybrid communication solution. It features a robust base station equipped with a digital display, a standard keypad, and a corded handset for reliable, stationary use. The accompanying cordless handset provides mobility, ensuring seamless connectivity throughout your workspace.

System Features

Base Station Components

- Digital display
- Standard keypad
- Function buttons
- Corded handset

System Type	Hybrid Corded/Cordless System
Handset Type	Cordless with antenna

Application

Intended Use	Home, Office
--------------	--------------