

Digital TV Receiver with DVB Support

This digital TV receiver is engineered for receiving and decoding digital television broadcasts. It incorporates a ventilated top panel to ensure efficient heat dissipation and supports DVB standards.

Product Overview

High-Performance Digital TV Receiver

The CDTV410 is a specialized digital TV receiver engineered for high-quality signal reception and decoding. Designed for seamless integration into home entertainment systems, this unit supports multiple DVB standards to ensure wide compatibility with broadcast signals. It features an optimized hardware design with passive cooling for long-term stability and reliable performance.

Technical Specifications

Model Number	CDTV410
Broadcast Standards	DVB

Design and Build

Design Features

- Silver-colored housing
- Ventilated top panel for heat dissipation
- Dark blue front panel
- Integrated control knobs
- Indicator lights