

Document Transmission Fax Machine

This fax machine transmits documents via telephone lines. It includes a keypad, indicator lights, and a document feeder.

Product Overview

Professional Document Transmission

This document transmission fax machine is engineered for reliable communication in both home and office environments. It features an integrated document feeder for automated processing and a dedicated keypad for efficient dialing. Designed for seamless connectivity over standard telephone lines, this unit ensures your critical documents are sent and received with clarity and ease.

Technical Features

Core Capabilities

- Automated document feeder
- Telephone line transmission
- Status indicator lights
- Direct keypad dialing

Interface Components

Component	Function
Keypad	Manual dialing and control
Indicator Lights	System status monitoring
Document Feeder	Automated paper handling

Recommended Use	Office, Home Office, Small Business
-----------------	-------------------------------------