

Dry Type Roasted Peanut Peeling Machine

The peanut peeling machine is an advanced equipment for peeling roasted or dried peanuts to be processed into peanut kernels. The peanut kernel and peanut skin will be automatically separated after processing.

ADDITIONAL IMAGES

Product Overview

The compact design features multiple hoppers for consistent, continuous feeding.

Advanced Peanut Processing

This dry-type peanut peeling machine is engineered for the efficient skin removal of roasted or dried peanuts. Utilizing a precise roller rubbing method, it ensures that peanut kernels remain smooth and intact during processing. The system offers high versatility, allowing for modular scalability to meet varying production requirements while maintaining excellent hygiene standards.

Performance Metrics

Peeling Rate

96 %

Peeling Rate

Half Grain Rate

6 %

Half Grain Rate

Equipment Details

Standard Components

- 1 Set Peeling Machine
- 1 Set Support Rack
- 1 Set Suction and Peeling Device

Peeling Technology

Roller rubbing and peeling

Operational Features

Processing Applications

Roasted Peanuts, Dried Peanuts, Peanut Kernels

Modular Scalability

Yes