

EN 125 Street Motorcycle

The EN 125 motorcycle is a versatile and reliable machine designed for urban commuting and leisure riding. It features a robust engine, providing sufficient power for navigating city streets and open roads.

Overview

Versatile Urban Commuter

The EN 125 is a reliable motorcycle engineered specifically for urban commuting and leisure riding. Designed with a focus on rider comfort and ease of handling, it features a durable chassis and responsive braking system suitable for both experienced and novice riders. This model offers an affordable and practical solution for everyday transportation needs.

Performance & Handling

Riding Profile

Urban Commuting, Leisure Riding, Easy Handling

Technical Specifications

Key Components

- Robust engine
- Durable chassis
- Efficient suspension system
- Responsive braking system

Available Models

EN 125 • EN 150 • EN 200