

Europlug European Standard Electrical Plug

This European standard electrical plug, known as a Europlug, is designed for use in continental Europe. It is made from durable white plastic, providing a safe and reliable connection for various low-power electrical appliances.

Overview

Europlug European Standard Electrical Plug

The Europlug is a standard, ungrounded electrical plug designed for use in continental Europe. It features two round pins and is constructed from durable white plastic, ensuring a safe and reliable connection for various low-power electrical appliances. This plug is an essential component for seamless power integration across European markets.

Technical Specifications

Pin Configuration	Two round pins
Grounding	No
Material	Durable white plastic

Usage

Standard	European Standard • Europlug
Suitable Applications	Low-power devices, European appliances, Continental Europe