

General Purpose Pliers with Insulated Grip

These general purpose pliers are designed with gripping jaws. The pliers feature insulated handles to ensure a secure and comfortable grip during various tasks like cutting, bending, and gripping wires and small components.

Product Overview

General Purpose Pliers

These general purpose pliers are designed for versatility and reliability in various professional tasks. Featuring robust gripping jaws and ergonomic insulated handles, they ensure both secure handling and user comfort during operation. Constructed from durable steel, these pliers are built for long-lasting performance, making them an essential tool for cutting, bending, and gripping wires or small components.

Technical Specifications

Primary Applications

- Cutting wires
- Bending wires
- Gripping small components

Material	Durable Steel
Key Features	Insulated Grip, Gripping Jaws, Durable Construction