

Kerosene Space Heater with Metal Cage

This kerosene space heater delivers efficient and reliable heating for indoor spaces. It features a durable metal cage for safety, protecting users from direct contact with the heating element.

Product Overview

Efficient Heating Solution

The WKH-4400 kerosene space heater is engineered to provide reliable and consistent warmth for various indoor environments including homes, garages, and workshops. It features a robust metal safety cage that protects users from the heating element while ensuring efficient heat distribution. Designed for portability, this heater includes an intuitive central control knob for precise adjustment of flame and heat output.

Technical Specifications

Suitable Environments

- Indoor residential spaces
- Garages
- Workshops

Model Number	WKH-4400
Safety Features	Metal Safety Cage, Direct Contact Protection
Control Mechanism	Central knob for flame and heat adjustment