

LCD Television Screen

This LCD screen is designed for television applications requiring high resolution. It features a protective film layer to ensure it remains new and unused.

Product Overview

High-Resolution LCD Display

This high-resolution LCD screen is specifically designed for integration into television and audio-video applications. It features a protective film layer to ensure the display remains pristine during handling and installation. Engineered for optimal clarity and color accuracy, this component is suitable for manufacturers and repair professionals seeking reliable, unused display hardware.

Technical Details

Condition

New • Unused

Key Features

- High-resolution display
- Protective film layer included
- Optimized for color accuracy

Application

Television, Audio-Video