

Network Router with Indicator Lights

This network device is designed for routing and switching network traffic. It features indicator lights for Power, Line, Phone, LAN, and WAN connections, providing status information at a glance.

Product Overview

Compact Network Gateway

The Gateway 982 is a versatile network device engineered for efficient routing and switching of network traffic. Designed with a compact footprint, it is an ideal solution for small office or home office environments requiring reliable connectivity. The unit features intuitive indicator lights for real-time status monitoring of critical connections.

Connectivity & Indicators

Status Indicators	Power, Line, Phone, LAN, WAN
Model Identifier	GK982

Usage

Recommended Environment
Small Office • Home Office