

Network Server Cabinet

This network server cabinet is designed to house and protect sensitive server equipment. It features a sturdy construction with a lockable door for security and is equipped with casters for easy mobility and positioning.

ADDITIONAL IMAGES

Product Overview

Professional Server Housing

This robust server cabinet is engineered to house and protect critical IT infrastructure, including servers, networking devices, and power distribution units. Designed for data centers and server rooms, it features a secure, lockable door and optimized ventilation to prevent overheating. With adjustable mounting rails and durable construction, this cabinet offers a flexible and organized solution for managing sensitive electronic equipment.

Design & Features

Key Features

- Lockable front door for equipment security
- Perforated or transparent door options for monitoring and airflow
- Adjustable internal mounting rails
- Integrated ventilation slots for thermal management
- Equipped with casters for mobility and leveling feet for stability

Customization Options

Multiple Dimensions, Multiple Colors, Various Accessories

Applications

Ideal Environments

Data Centers • Server Rooms • IT Environments