

Networking Router

This networking device is designed for home or small office use. It features indicator lights for power, Ethernet connection, DSL link, and DSL activity.

Product Overview

Professional Networking Connectivity

The Networking Router is designed to provide stable and reliable internet connectivity for home or small office environments. The device features a sleek black and silver housing with integrated ventilation to ensure consistent thermal performance during operation. Users can easily monitor connection status through front-facing LED indicators for power, Ethernet, and DSL links.

Technical Interface

Connectivity Indicators

- Power Status
- Ethernet Connection
- DSL Link
- DSL Activity

Design

Cooling System	Yes
Finish and Materials	Black, Silver, Ventilated