

PABX Telephone System for Business Communication

This PABX (Private Automatic Branch Exchange) telephone system manages internal and external telephone communications. The system supports call routing, intercom, and multiple extensions.

Overview

Professional Business Communication Solution

This PABX (Private Automatic Branch Exchange) telephone system is designed to streamline internal and external communications for modern organizations. It acts as a centralized hub for managing telephone traffic, supporting essential features like call routing and intercom functionality. By consolidating multiple extensions into a single system, it enhances operational efficiency and helps businesses manage communication costs effectively.

System Details

Model Identifier	AF-208
System Type	Group Telephone System

Key Features

Core Functionalities	Call Routing, Intercom, Multi-Extension Support
----------------------	---