

Perforated Metal Baking Tray

This is a perforated metal baking tray. It is designed for even heat distribution.

Product Overview

Professional Baking Solution

This high-quality perforated metal baking tray is designed for commercial and professional kitchen environments. The perforated design ensures optimal airflow, promoting even heat distribution and consistent browning for baked goods. Featuring integrated handles, it offers ease of handling and durability for high-volume daily use.

Physical Characteristics

Shape	Circular
Material	Metal
Design Features	Perforated surface, Integrated handles

Usage

Primary Application	Baking and cooking
---------------------	--------------------