

Portable Computing Device with Trackpoint

This portable computing device is designed for professionals. It features a trackpoint navigation system, offering precision and ease of use for various business applications.

Overview

Professional Portable Computing

This portable computing device is engineered for professionals who prioritize efficiency and mobility. Featuring a classic keyboard layout integrated with a precision trackpoint navigation system, it offers a tactile and reliable user experience. Its robust hinge design and compact form factor make it an ideal tool for business environments where portability and consistent performance are essential.

Design & Build

Design Focus

Professional • Business-Oriented • Portable

Form Factor

Notebook Computer

Navigation Features

Trackpoint, Keyboard