

Split-End Computer Connection Cable

This is a computer cable with a split end, designed for versatile connectivity. The cable features two separate wires emerging from a single sheath, suitable for connecting various computer peripherals.

