

Window Hinge

This window hinge consists of metal arms connected by pivot points for controlled window movement. It features a durable finish and low-profile design, suitable for various window types.

Product Overview

Professional Window Hardware Solution

This window hinge is engineered for reliable performance and controlled window operation. Featuring a durable, low-profile design, it integrates seamlessly into various window frame types. The multi-arm construction with precision pivot points ensures smooth movement and long-term structural integrity for demanding installation environments.

Technical Specifications

Application Compatibility

Various window types • Standard frame installation

Design Style

Low-profile

Construction Features

Multi-arm design, Precision pivot points, Secure mounting base